

Human Resources Board Report May 2026

Collaborative - Passionate - Inclusive - Supportive - Innovative

We concluded another year of learning for our special education and general education associates earlier this month. The topic was Motivation - for both students and staff. This topic is truly meaningful as the calendar turns to May. The wonderful aspect to this session is that it was led by various SpEd teachers and administrators throughout the district. We have learned two major things in two years of providing PD to associates - - smaller groups are more engaging and hearing directly from teachers and admin makes the learning more “real world” and less theoretical. We plan to meet with any associate who is interested later in May to plan for PD next year. We are hearing more and more districts are beginning to provide PD for associates and feel like we’ve been on the leading edge of this for our team. Thanks to everyone who has provided feedback and joined us in this endeavor.

We are in the middle of revamping our evaluation system in Frontline Education. We had several meetings with the team at Frontline and are finalizing all of our evaluation documents for next year. This has been a valuable year of learning the intricacies of the system and making adaptations to make it meaningful for both staff and evaluators. Special thank you to Dr. Carenza, Mrs. Olson and their teams and the work done with Stronge Instructional Framework over the last two years. The TQ continues to lead this transition and we’re excited about how efficient the system will be for everyone.

Vector is going to be a catalyst for annual training again. Our classified staff will be given time during May to complete these courses. Certified staff will be able to complete their courses during workdays in June or when we return in August.

Qualtrics has been very helpful in preparing the end-of-the-year engagement survey to our staff. By repeating the survey from last May and this winter, we will now have trend data regarding the overall engagement of our staff. We continue to ask specific questions for various departments and offer general feedback opportunities.

We will wrap up a year of celebration with our last edition of Creator Awards later this month. The feedback that we have received is that staff enjoy the recognition from their peers, and the social media aspect allows it to be viewed/celebrated by those outside our school walls. Thanks a ton to AJ and his team for partnering with us on this engagement strategy.
